

CRIME:

Who Is Fighting It? Why Duplication? Does It Work?

KEEPING TRACK
Lt. Thomas Culley of the Daly City Police Department demonstrates some of the locks available for home protection. Culley wishes crime prevention groups would work together.

Old Jobs, Old Pay For Rec Leaders

Forty recreation leaders in Daly City will be paid $1.24 more per hour than their colleagues.

The Daly City City Council allocated $7,750 Monday for higher wages for experienced recreation leaders laid off last summer when Proposition 13 cutbacks were made.

The Parks and Recreation Commission requested that $4.24 per hour be paid to these experienced recreation leaders, instead of the going rate of $3 per hour, so that they would be enticed back into their old jobs.

Recreation Director Charles

Vincent explained in a memo to City Manager David Rowe that it would cost $7,750 to hire back the experienced leaders at $4.24 per hour and it would cost an additional $25,200 to pay all recreation leaders that rate.

In presenting the proposal to the council, Rowe remarked, "This is a recommendation of the commission and not a recommendation of staff."

Nevertheless, the council voted unanimously to pay the 40 experienced recreation leaders $4.24 per hour, effective Dec. 1.

Among Many Topics

D.C. Okays Site for Community Center

Citizens spiced up an otherwise routine meeting of the Daly City City Council Monday night by complaining loud and long on some familiar topics: garbage costs, rehabilitation loans and the city's plans to build a $4 million center for community activities.

Harold Calder advised the council to plan ahead for a possible strike by the city's garbagemen, whose contract expires in July.

Calder said the city shouldn't give the garbagemen a penny more.

"They're making $26,000 to $27,000 a year now. That's not right," he remarked.

Should a strike result, Rowe said the city could open the dump and the soon-to-be-built transfer station for residents to use. When Daly City last had a garbage strike three years ago, Rowe said the city issued temporary collection permits to allow small operators to pick up garbage for others.

Calder urged the council twice during the meeting not to continue with plans to build a $4 million "multi-purpose center" for community activities, noting that the federal money being poured into the project could be spent better on housing rehabilitation.

Fred DeJarlais, Housing and Community Development Act coordinator for the city, said nearly $500,000 has been committed so far on the purchase of land along Mission Street for the project.

Objecting to the proposed location as "prime commercial property," Calder suggested that the city use a vacant school as a community center instead.

Conrad Pavellas suggested building a small center in Lincoln Park.

ALERTING NEIGHBORHOODS

Conrad Pavellas, left, and Ernest Pezzola of the Anti-Crime League of Daly City have concentrated on helping neighborhood groups learn the techniques of crime prevention.

Dave Dornlas

Where You Can Call

Want to learn about crime prevention? Take your pick:

The Anti-Crime League of Daly City is at 101 Acton St., Daly City 94014; telephone: 584-1099.

The Anti-Crime Association of America is at 6000 Mission St., Daly City 94014; telephone: 992-3939.

CAPTURE is at 2121 El Camino Real, San Mateo 94403; telephone: 573-1445.

The Daly City Police Department is at City Hall; telephone: 992-4500.

ON THE ALERT

Youngsters who wear these T-shirts are "junior crime preventors" trained by CAPTURE.

One thing that all three agree upon is that CAPTURE is a waste of the taxpayers' money. CAPTURE stands for Citizens Active Participation Through Utilization of Relevant Education. Although the official name of the organization recently was changed to Citizens Crime Prevention, Inc., the CAPTURE name has stuck.

Of the county-wide crime prevention organization, Pavellas said, "We're not sure what CAPTURE is doing. Nothing that they plan to do ever seems to materialize and serve our homes."

Pezzola said he can't understand why the federal government decided to give CAPTURE a $188,906 grant. ACLDC had applied for the same grant.

Karavos was more blunt: "CAPTURE is five years behind the times. They're using locks, rewards — the old-fashioned methods of crime prevention. You give me $188,000 and I could service the whole state of California with crime prevention."

He objected that CAPTURE "hires people at fantastic salaries," has created, he said, an unnecessary bureaucracy and is duplicating services that he claims already exist.

Pavellas: Pezzola and Karavos all stressed that they receive no pay for their anti-crime efforts.

Mel Turner, director of CAPTURE, said his organization has operated at the poverty level for more months than he cares to remember. From February through August of this year, he explained, no staff members were paid.

"I had to take out a second mortgage on my home. If we weren't that dedicated, we would go get a job somewhere else," Turner said.

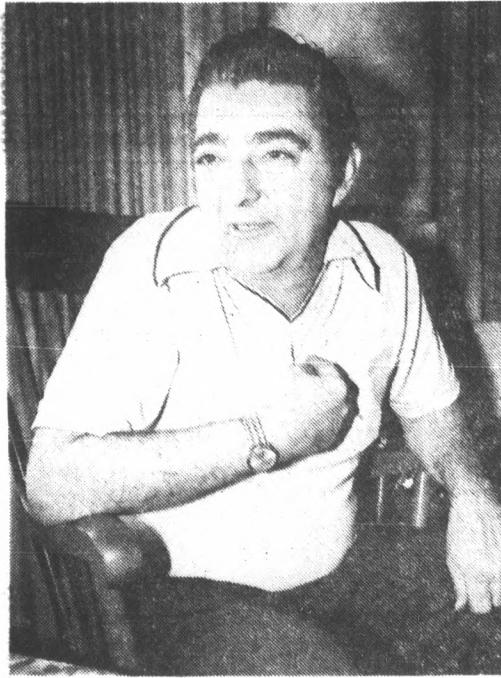

The grant CAPTURE recently

SELLING CRIME PREVENTION

Frank Karavos, president of the Anti-Crime Association of America, views crime prevention as a service which can be marketed to businesses.

COUNTY-WIDE EFFORTS

(Dave Dornas Photo)
CAPTURE Director Mel Turner puts together some crime prevention literature requested by a citizen. CAPTURE works to prevent crime throughout San Mateo County.

received is for two crime prevention programs that will continue through Jan. 16, 1980.

One, Seniors Against Crime, will train senior citizens in some areas to do home security inspections and to teach neighborhoods the basics of crime prevention.

To qualify for the program, an individual must be 55 years old, own his or her own home and live in the older section of Daly City, North Central San Mateo or the Shoreview section of that city, or the Fair Oaks part of Redwood City.

In its other program, CAPTURE is training children in the second through fourth grades to be "junior crime prevention officers."

The youngsters are learning how to make home security checks and other crime prevention techniques. They take brochures home to their parents. Once they're done with the program, they'll receive CAPTURE T-shirts.

In addition, CAPTURE's four full-time and five part-time employees provide many of the same services as the ACLDC and the ACAA.

It has supplied every library, police department and fire department in the county with engravers that citizens may borrow at no cost to mark their belongings. It gives groups literature and tips on home and neighborhood security and sells siren alarms.

CAPTURE has Silent Witness, too, but only in the city of Pacifica.

In addition, CAPTURE presents programs on such topics as rape and domestic violence and brings judges, probation officers and district attorneys out to meet the public with its "Judicial Forum" program.

Once a year, CAPTURE holds a Crime Prevention Day in San Mateo County. Turner emphasized that all of CAPTURE's services are free. The organization also sells memberships ranging from $2 per year for students and seniors to $100 for large businesses.

There are about 250 members.

Members of CAPTURE are admitted at reduced rates to all of CAPTURE's activities and they receive a quarterly newsletter.

Pavellas, Pezola and Karavos all used to belong to CAPTURE, which began in August 1974 with federal assistance.

But Turner said all three grew impatient with CAPTURE's crime prevention methods and decided to form their own group.

In Turner's opinion, they attack only residential burglaries, whereas CAPTURE focuses on all kinds of crimes.

While Turner said all crime prevention groups are useful, he remarked, "It doesn't make sense. There's a lot of duplication between the police department, the local anti-crime groups and CAPTURE."

Culley agrees. Part of his job is attending meetings called by the other three groups to keep tabs on what everyone is doing.

Not to be outdone, the department makes home security checks, runs an Operation ID program, hands out literature, teaches groups the concept of Neighborhood Watch and lectures to organizations on crime prevention topics.

Sound familiar? Culley is well aware that three other groups are providing the same services.

"We have no effect on how many crime prevention organizations there are," he said. "It would be very nice and pleasant if all of the citizens could set aside their own wishes and band together into one group or perhaps even a coalition. It would mean spending less time running around organizing and spending more time fighting crime."

ROBIN BARLOW KATHY LOY VALERIE FORBES

D.C. Entrant Wins New Area Pageant

Robin Barlow, a 17 1/2-year-old Daly City girl, captured the title of Miss North Peninsula at the first annual pageant in Redwood City Saturday.

Miss Barlow competed with 14 other girls in the contest, which is affiliated with the Miss Universe pageant.

Besides having the title for a year, Miss Barlow will receive a trip to Hawaii, a $200 scholarship, a course at Miss Lorraine's modeling school in Palo Alto, a beautician's course at Hilltop Beauty School in Daly City and a trip to Hollywood next February to compete in the Miss California Universe contest.

First runner-up was Kathy Loy, 19, of Hillsborough, and second runner-up was 18-year-old Valerie Forbes of Millbrae.

Miss Forbes also captured the title of Miss Congeniality.

As first runner-up, Miss Loy will receive a trip to Disneyland and a $100 scholarship, while Miss Forbes will receive a $100 scholarship.

According to Diane Blankenship, organizer of the pageant, approximately 200 persons attended.

The girls competed in swimming suits and evening gowns, and were subjected to a question-and-answer session by the seven judges.

Noise Monitoring at Airport Said Not as Bad as First Thought

Noise monitoring at San Francisco International Airport is not so bad as San Mateo County supervisors might have been led to believe, the county's Airport Land Use Committee seemed to agree Thursday night.

The committee spent more than two hours discussing the Salter report on airport noise monitoring, prepared for the county by a consultant, and commenting on various responses which have been made to that report.

The final response on the list was its own, a tentative draft set of comments readied for the committee by the county planning staff.

Committee members in the end directed Chairman Art Lepore to rewrite the letter, working with staff, to convey a less caustic appraisal of the county consultant's report and airport noise monitoring.

The original letter had contained references to the airport's reputed lack of cooperation.

Airport noise abatement officer Arnold Feener said he would provide all the information the county could handle on noise complaints, engine run-ups at night and other problems.

The letter had stated that the airport noise monitoring system does not meet state law, although it is very accurate.

Feener said the state's opinion is that the airport noise measuring equipment meets state requirements well.

Several ALUC members said that if the county feels the airport's noise monitoring equipment is not satisfactory, it is up to the county to install its own equipment to check the airport devices.

Lepore said he was disappointed in the county consultant's report in that it does not seem to make any commitment to a continued program of validating the noise measuring system.

County planning aide David Hale said the county is in a tough spot, being required by state law to enforce state noise regulations, yet having little leverage.

He said the county feels that a couple of legal technicalities must be overcome before the airport noise system meets state requirements. These, he said, include application for and approval of a variance to allow noise measuring equipment thresholds to be set higher than state rules establish, and delivery to the county of a noise monitoring plan by the airport.

Feener said he would supply the report and is eager to work with ALUC and the county staff in reducing the noise problem.

He said that if the county feels it necessary to apply for a variance or exemption on the noise threshold question, that could be done. Neither the state nor the airport feels such an exemption is needed, he said.

Feener offered to work with ALUC in establishing locations for two new permanent noise monitors he has available.

He also offered to let ALUC determine where portable monitors best be used to provide additional information about noise patterns.

Feener cautioned ALUC members that the portable equipment is not nearly so accurate as permanent monitors, however.

Sophomores First to Try It Diploma Depends on Proficiency Tests

By HEIDI VAN ZANT
If the eighth- and tenth-graders in South San Francisco schools seem a little nervous about their school-work lately, there may be good cause for it.

In December they will be given a proficiency test on basic skills that could determine whether they graduate from high school.

If they do not pass the test at some point in high school, they will not receive a diploma. This year's sophomore class is the first to have to meet those new state requirements.

Students are being tested at the eighth-grade level, too, because if they pass the test then, they do not have to take it again.

"There are a lot of kids who are apprehensive," said Sheldon Winston, the director of secondary education for the South San Francisco Unified School District.

Students who must take the test are suddenly paying more attention to school, he said, adding that "they're sitting in classes and being much more serious about what they're learning."

He noted that it presents another hurdle to those who want to graduate. Even if students have enough credits and their grades are high enough, they still have to pass the test.

The test will be administered the second week in December and graded over the Christmas break.

This group, Winston said, criticized the test for being too difficult, especially the reading comprehension sections.

"It sets up what we want to make sure is taught," he said, adding that that does not necessarily mean the present curriculum contains enough emphasis in all the needed areas.

Winston said he expects that teachers will be changing their courses somewhat to make sure students are prepared to pass the test.

The students will be tested in reading, writing and mathematics. A score of at least 80 percent correct must be achieved.

Standards are being developed for the elementary level. In the 1979-80 school year, students in the fourth- through sixth-grade levels must be tested at least once.

Familiar things have been put in the test because, Winston said, "We don't want to trick them in this."

Students will be asked questions about a job application, a newspaper advertisement and a bus schedule.

They also will be asked questions about basic mathematical computations, vocabulary and reading comprehension.

For the writing portion of the test, students must write a business letter and an essay.

Winston said one reason the students will be tested on "survival skills" — such as reading a map and filling out a job application — is that parents have asked for it.

He said parents were surveyed last year and when asked what they want their children to learn in school, the No. 1 choice was for their children to know how to fill in a job application.

Tenth-grade students who do not pass the test can take a portion of it again next spring or take it all over again when they're juniors.

'Miss California' Visits Schools in North County

'Pageant Helps You to Learn Social Graces'

By HEIDI VAN ZANT

In high school, Christine Acton was the butt of jokes because of her skinny legs and petite figure.

"People are shocked when they see me now," said the 24-year-old Miss California, who was in Pacifica and San Bruno Thursday to promote the pageant.

She said she is proof that a girl does not have to be extraordinarily beautiful or have a voluptuous figure to become Miss California.

"I don't think it's a meat show," Miss Acton said, adding that just because a girl has an outstanding figure does not mean she can handle herself well when it comes to meeting all the people a Miss California would.

The turn-out was extremely light when Miss California visited Oceana and Terra Nova high schools. Only six girls from Oceana and two girls from Terra Nova met with her.

Earlier in the day, Miss Acton had visited Skyline College, where she talked with 12 potential Miss Pacifica entrants.

At both high schools, she stressed that there is a lot of scholarship money available for winners and runners-up at the local, state and national levels.

Miss Pacifica was given $1,825 last year and she received a $3,000 scholarship. Miss Acton said, noting that a Miss America can earn up to $150,000 in scholarships and personal appearances.

The girls asked the typical questions about the swim suit and talent portions of the pageants. Miss California told them that talent accounts for 50 percent of the points at the local level.

Having an outstanding talent is not as important, she said, as showing the judges you can express yourself through your talent.

Miss California, who entered the state pageant as Miss San Bernardino County, said she recognizes that her title is "a means to an end."

She has learned social graces ("That's the most important thing you learn"), met many interesting people and been able to save money to continue studying the flute.

Miss Acton noted that she does not consider herself a raving beauty and, in fact, joked that when she wakes up every morning she wonders how she will make herself presentable.

The girls she talked with seemed impressed that Miss California was neither conceited nor snobbish, but that she was down-to-earth and as one put it, was "extra nice" to them.

MISS CALIFORNIA VISITS

Christine Acton doesn't believe Miss California pageant is a "meat show," she told North County groups last week.

THE DIET CORNER

By ELISE GENDAR

Exercise is like the weather. Everyone talks about it; no one does anything about it.

I am haunted by the ghosts of gym classes past. I remember unfondly the blue-uniformed lady with the whistle who always seemed to spot me when I dropped out of line. Exercise is all tied up for me with those one-hour sessions of high school horror.

But I need exercise now. Yet when I think about it, I am turned off rather than on. So what can I do?

I can have fun, that's what. I can take my dog for a walk and meet and talk to new and interesting neighbors. Now that may sound too simple to be exercise, but simple pleasures are often the best and most effective. If walking's your exercise, you must remember to walk briskly along. A slow saunter is just not worth putting on a coat for. Swing your arms. Stride. Get your entire body involved. Now that's walking.

The best part is you don't have to set aside a period for it daily or change your schedule at all. You can walk as part of doing something else.

A journalist once noted after a return from Scandinaavia that there were few obese people on the sidewalks despite the fact that the native diet is heavy on butter, cheese, milk and beer. Then the writer went on to say that few Swedes, Danes or Norwegians ride if they can walk the distance in 15 minutes. What a difference that would make in this country.

While you are walking, why not walk to the kitchen and try out this idea?

HOT AND SPICY TOMATO JELL

1 6-ounce can Bloody Mary mix
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 packets bouillon
1 green pepper, diced
2 eggs, hard boiled
1 14-ounce can stewed tomatoes
(sliced baby tomatoes preferred)
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin

Bring Bloody Mary mix to a quick boil with Worcestershire sauce, bouillon and pepper. Cook five minutes. In medium-sized bowl, sprinkle gelatin on liquid drained from tomatoes. Chop hard boiled eggs and place in a pie pan with tomato slices. Add hot Bloody Mary mix to gelatin-tomato liquid and stir to dissolve. Cool and chill until set.

Don't forget that walking's not the only way to have fun rather than exercise. Fun to you may be swimming. Or riding a bike. Or jumping rope. Or if you are a true exercise freak, you might want to try The Diet Workshop "Trouble Spot" exercises for the waistline. You'll enjoy doing them and you'll love your new belt size. Just send a self-addressed stamped envelope to me at The Diet Workshop, 2533 Taraval St., San Francisco 94116.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

With Thanksgiving just about a week away, it's not a bit too soon to think about our menu for that busy and happy day. Turkey and all the fixings head up the shopping list, but how about some different ideas for the vegetables?

ZUCCHINI WITH DILL

1½ pounds zucchini
2 cloves garlic, crushed
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons pimiento
1 cup (½ pint) sour cream
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon dill weed
Buttered bread crumbs

Wash zucchini well; cut into half-inch slices. Cook two cloves garlic and fourth-cup chopped onion in the one tablespoon butter for five minutes. Add one tablespoon water, one teaspoon salt, fourth-teaspoon pepper, two tablespoons pimento and sliced squash; mix well. Spoon into buttered 1½-quart casserole. Bake, covered in preheated 350-degree oven for 40 minutes.

Combine the half-pint sour cream, one tablespoon flour and one teaspoon dill weed; mix well. Stir into squash mixture. Sprinkle top with bread crumbs. Bake uncovered, 15 minutes more or until squash is tender and crumbs are golden brown. Serves 6.

MINT GLAZED CARROTS

4 cups cooked carrot strips
½ cup butter
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons mint jelly

Combine the fourth-cup each butter and sugar and two tablespoons jelly in saucepan. Add the four cups cooked carrots and simmer until carrots are glazed. Serves 6 to 8.

Prevention: Best Cure for Poisoning

Animal Forum

By D.R. BARNETT, DVM

QUESTION: I understand that slug and snail bait contain a deadly mixture of metaldehyde and arsenic and that it is the metaldehyde that causes almost all the deaths in pets. We've had experience with two dogs who chewed open a snail bait bag and apparently ate some of the pellets. One was the neighbor's dog and one was ours. The neighbor's dog died and ours was saved because we got treatment for him immediately. The bag of bait was in another neighbor's yard (they don't have a dog) and so it was a mixup. Will you warn people to keep this deadly stuff out of the reach of pets — and what the best first-aid treatment is. Thanks sincerely.

—K.G.

ANSWER: In the past, snail bait was formulated with a material that was highly attractive to snails — and, unfortunately, also attractive to dogs and cats. This resulted in many dogs being poisoned because they willingly ate large quantities of the material when it was distributed in the yard. Today, the formula of most snail baits has been altered so it no longer seems attractive to dogs and cats.

A few pets still are poisoned because of exposure to the older form of snail bait or because they still like the new type of bait. All chemicals and pesticides should be handled and stored safely out of the reach of pets and children. Poisoning is a situation where prevention is definitely the best cure. It is best to call your veterinarian for advice if you believe your pet has been poisoned. He or she can suggest appropriate first aid based on your pet's condition.

Pets are protected best by keeping them confined or on a leash when taken out. Having access to the streets and neighbor's yards can be dangerous from the standpoint of poisoning, car accidents and dog fights, and doesn't make for good relationships with neighbors who don't own pets.

QUESTION:

Would you tell me if a mixture of sugar, water and vegetable coloring is harmful to hummingbirds? I was told recently that sugar should not be given to little hummers. I have a feeder in my yard and have had several steady customers for years.

—T.L.

ANSWER: You should use sugar and water at a ratio of four cups of water to one cup of sugar. Slightly heated water helps dissolve the sugar. Vegetable dye might be harmful.

Since the dye is there to attract the bird, why not put red strips of adhesive material around the feeder? It's simpler and safer.

The Regent

By GENNY HORN
Commissioner of Outside Publicity

It's spirit week at Serramonte High School. This week Serramonte is full of activity, with a different activity planned each day. Tuesday was Kids' Day. The school looked like a playground with many students dressing up as little kids. Today is Class I.D. Day. Each of the four classes has decided to wear different costumes or clothes. All the freshmen will be wearing the same clothes, the juniors different but all the same, as will the seniors and sophomores.

You will be able to tell what class the person is in by the clothes they are wearing. Thursday is 50s Day. The Homecoming rally and the big football game against our rival, Westmoor, will be Friday. Be sure to go to the rally and the game to cheer the mighty Regents!

The election for all the Homecoming princes, princesses, King and Queen, will be today during first period. Many people were nominated for the Homecoming court. I would like to wish all candidates the best of luck.

The Executive Board has been selling carnations for 25 cents. Be sure to send carnations to your friends; it'll make their day. The carnations will be delivered Friday in the first-period classes.

At the end of Spirit Week will be the Homecoming dance, in the cafeteria from 8 to 11 p.m. Friday.

The Executive Board hopes that this dance will be as successful as our other dances in the past. Tickets will be sold at the door but they will cost more.

Ram-blings

If one were to have visited Westmoor Oct. 31, he (or she) probably would have been surprised at what they saw.

About one-fourth of the school's pupils were costumed in everything from a banana to the basic, everyday witch. Believe me, it was an interesting sight to see!

In the wake of a fun Halloween, students enjoyed the excitement of Homecoming. This annual event is a celebration of the last Home game of the season. Floorgrams were delivered during the first period Nov. 9 to set the mood for the rest of the day.

After school, the homecoming rally was held in the large gym, with some excellent talent competition from each of the four classes.

After the rally, students went to the homecoming game against Terra Nova.

During halftime, nominees for the homecoming court were paraded around the field.

The homecoming dance was held from 8-11 in the school cafeteria. The band, Struttin', did an excellent job as over 350 dancers crowded onto the floor.

CONGRATULATIONS to President Marisa Matteucci, the senior class president, who helped arrange this day.

Good luck to the Close-Up students. To raise money for their trip to Washington, they are having a candy sale and magazine sale. The magazines are not only for new subscriptions. One can also renew a current magazine which one is subscribing to. Good luck on the sales!

CONGRATULATIONS TO the commissioner of clubs, Demitrice Shorter, who did an excellent job arranging Westmoor's Second Annual club Day, Nov. 8.

This event proved a fine way for students to become acquainted with clubs at the school. Each organization set up a booth in the courtyard and spokesmen and women from the clubs talked with students about the purpose, activities, and goals of their individual club.

THE OFFICIAL list of Mid-Term Graduates is posted in the Registrar's office.

SENIOR CLASS members received the first copy of the school year of the Senior Rams. This publication is designed to keep seniors up-to-date on important deadlines, activity dates and other pertinent information important to these graduating students.

BECAUSE OF the teacher's strike at the beginning of the term, the trial period for open campus has been extended until next quarter. At the end of this time period, a study report will be made and the continuation or end of open campus will be decided by the school board.

THE CAMPUS chapter of the California Scholarship Federation will be visiting Stanford University late this month. This annual college visit is just one among the many activities the chapter does.

THE FIRST quarter of school officially ended Nov. 9 with the second half commencing on Nov. 13.

WESTMOOR has a new addition to its rally committee — the Letter girls.

These 21 girls assist the cheerleaders and each has a letter on her uniform so that when standing in order, they spell out Westmoor High Rams.

SPORTS — Congratulations to the varsity football team, which overcame El Camino 35-13 in Westmoor's last night game. Tony Limaua contained to give fine performances in both passing and yardage gained.

That put the Ram's record at 3-1 with the Terra Nova game still to come. Take it all the way!

Prop. 6 Flareup at Skyline

By JOHN HORGAN
Proposition 6 may have been defeated in the Nov. 7 election but the after-effects linger on.

On Nov. 8, a teacher at Skyline College in San Bruno discovered that the atmosphere of distrust and animosity created by the campaign surrounding the Briggs Initiative still pervades.

The teacher was accused of being a homosexual by a student who had done poorly in his class.

The student, according to witnesses, made the accusation, along with a volley of other verbal abuse, in a Skyline hallway between morning classes.

"It deeply upset me," said the instructor. "I've never been so humiliated. It destroyed my day."

The student had told passersby that the teacher, during a post-Prop.

6 discussion with a class, had announced to the students that he was a homosexual.

Not true, said the teacher.

"I would never say something like that," he said. "The classroom is not the arena for making comments about a teacher's sexual preference. The student isn't even in that class anymore. He wasn't there. He has withdrawn from the course."

The teacher explained that he had had the student in a class previously. "I gave him a courtesy D-minus at," he said. This year, the student's weak performance continued until he withdrew with no grade.

"This was just a vicious, vindictive way for the student to get back at me," said the instructor. "I can't imagine what's wrong with him. Some of my students in later classes that day seemed shaken. What a way to intimidate students and faculty."

James Wyatt, president of Skyline, said the student has had trouble at the school before. He said it is possible that the student might be suspended this time. "Academically," said Wyatt, "this could be his last semester here anyway."

He agreed that some kind of action against the student will probably be taken.

But, first, Wyatt said, he wants to talk over the situation with the dean of students.

Wyatt said the climate in the wake of Prop. 6 has "made teachers vulnerable to this sort of thing" even though the anti-homosexual initiative failed at the polls.

"Whether or not you are a homosexual, if the charge is made, you've got a problem," said Wyatt, referring to the teacher who might be placed in that precarious spot.

Candlestick Rec Area hearing Nov. 17

A general development plan for Candlestick Point State Recreation Area in San Francisco and a number of minor changes in the state park system regulations will be the principal items before the state Park and Recreation Commission when it meets Nov. 17 at San Francisco International Airport.

The commission will convene at 9 a.m. at the Holiday Inn, 245 South Airport Blvd., with the public hearing on the Candlestick Plan set for 10 a.m.

The plan calls for family picnicking and group camping areas; fishing piers, a cultural program center and a nature education center, docks and a boat rental concession, walking and bicycling trails, parking lots and open grassy areas, a nature area, restoration of a beach and a marsh, a dinner restaurant and a snack bar, and a variety of other facilities.

Continued public involvement in the development and operation of the unit and provision for jobs and opportunities for local business investment also are recommended in the plan.

The changes in state park system rules range from prohibiting the use of tools for collecting driftwood to boundary adjustments for the waterfowl hunting areas at San Luis Reservoir. Included are a ban on powerboats on Penasquitos Marsh in San Diego County, an okay on rockhounding below mean high water at Folsom Lake, and addition of a spring wild turkey season to the times when hunting would be allowed on parts of Lake Oroville.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Free Disco Dance Lesson Sessions

Grand prize in the big, new disco dance contest at LEHR'S CABARET DISCO in San Francisco is a round trip to London for two. Weekly dance contests are held every Tuesday from 10 p.m. to midnight; weekly winners become paid instructors at the Thursday evening free disco dance lesson sessions ... A great selection of Italian specialties, and all varieties of fresh fish when available, and even children's plates, are all prepared to take out at VINCE'S Italian and Seafood restaurant. The professional crew here is most impressive, and that includes Manager "Chris" Tassos ... After enjoying dinner at JIM SNAIDECKI'S SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S restaurant in Redwood City, Attorney Ed Mears can often be seen playing his clarinet along with the piano entertainment of MIKE GUZMAN at the concert grand piano ... Ever wonder why the after-dark surf and sand view from the picture windows at NICK'S, THE MOONRAKER and CAPTAIN CHARLES restaurants in Rockaway Beach always seems bathed in soft moonlight when there's no moon? It's the gentle lighting cast from the happy glow inside the restaurants, where you'll find cuisine for any taste (continental, seafood or steaks) ... In the tradition of the Joe's restaurants, the Joe's Special is also included on the menu of the new SERRAMONTE JOE'S restaurant, located in Serramonte Plaza, Daly City.

New Daiquiri Is Craze at Rosebud's

Latest cocktail craze with the theater crowd at ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB is the sensational new Midori Honeydew Melon Daiquiri. It's made with that new import, Midori, and has the taste of fresh honeydew melons. If you're hooked on daiquiris, just wait until you try this one ... Dinner patrons at PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-Ounce STEAKERY, on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Tower, were quick to recognize Jay Brown, the "Price Slasher" from Spartan Dodge in San Jose, who hosted the all-night movies on Channel 36 TV for several years ... Hard to tell who is happier these days at ROMANO'S friendly restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica — the delighted diners enjoying Italian and seafood specialties, Elmer, the elk (with "shades," hat and cigar) or ENRICO ROMANO scanning the happy scene. Anyway, there's always good vibes at Romano's ... Now that Daylight Saving Time has ended for the year and it's dark by 5:30 p.m., senior citizens, and others who prefer an early dinner, appreciate the early dinner hours at the KING'S TABLE BUFFET in Redwood City. Owner NORM LARSON opens the doors for dinner patrons at 4:30 p.m. daily; on Sundays, dinner is on tap from 2 p.m.

Cantonese-Mandarin Dishes Combined

The "special dinners" are especially popular at GONG'S Chinese restaurant, South San Francisco. All are a combination of Cantonese and Mandarin cuisine. Four family-style dinners are also well-chosen menu selections ... SAM VIDUCICH is a stickler about using only the freshest ingredients at his ATLANTIC SEAFOOD GROTTO, downtown San Mateo. Sam, who does all the buying himself, is up at the crack of dawn each day to go out on his San Francisco fish buying excursions ... From a light salad to a heavy cut of prime rib, luncheon appetites are easily accommodated at BEARDSLEY'S in Burlingame ... A short jaunt down the coast to Moss Beach will put you at the front door of TILLIE'S 'LIL' FRANKFURT, where German and continental cuisine is the specialty. Owner TILLIE SCHOLTZ also opens her restaurant for Sunday morning breakfast ... On Sunday, Nov. 19, fifteen of the Safeway store managers and their wives, from South San Francisco to San Carlos, whose district won a cheese merchandising contest, will celebrate their victory at a dinner party at SAL CAMPAGNA'S SALVATORE'S restaurant in San Carlos. Pat Vandebroek, manager of the South San Francisco store, is in charge of arrangements.

Popular Lounge Proves Its Worth

Since its December opening in 1975, the BAYHILL LOUNGE in San Bruno's Bayhill Shopping Center has proven to Owners HARRY CURUSIS and MEL CICERO that they are giving their patrons what they really want. This thriving lounge offers a varied luncheon menu, as well as live music and dancing for the evening crowds ... Tenderloin Tips, London Broil, Poached Petrale Sole, and Baked Canneloni are among the luncheon specials (depending on the day of the week) at L'AUBERGE French restaurant. Other luncheon enticements are hors d'oeuvres, salads, sandwiches, plus an extensive wine card ... Chef Jim Castro was busy all week making plans for YOLANDA'S Thanksgiving Day menu. Always eager to please, it is Owner BOB McLANE'S policy to let his dinner regulars offer menu suggestions. You can also be sure that this year's holiday feast will carry a popular low tab ... CHRIS VLASSIS of LA PINATA Mexican restaurant fame, continues to "discover" top-notch entertainment for his downtown Burlingame spot. Now entertaining the Friday and Saturday night lounge crowds is singer-guitarist TOM REBARA ... A festive awards banquet at the Villa Hotel followed the 13th Annual Invitational Golf Tournament of the San Mateo County Restaurant-Hotel Owners' Association, Half Moon Bay Golf Links. Toasting the occasion were the LEANING TOWER'S LOU ERCOLI, president, and vice-president TONY LICATA of VINCE'S ITALIAN and Seafood restaurant.

The Indian

By JANA KAST

One could not have asked for a better Homecoming Nov. 3. Our varsity football team canned the Oceanside Sharks 53-20. We would like to thank both Jack Burgett for such great coaching and our Jefferson varsity football players for displaying marvelous teamwork and winning plays. The Pep Staff also did an excellent job in leading the overwhelming crowd to boost the morale of the players.

The Homecoming parade this year was the best ever. Mayor Schumacher was the grand marshal and took part in judging of the floats. There were many good floats and all of them should have won, but only two awards were given out. The Latin Heritage Club won for "Most Decorative," and the freshman class won for "Most Original." Congratulations to the Latin Heritage Club and to the class of '82 on well-deserved trophies. Float winners were announced during half-time of the game.

The happy event continued on to the "Dance of the Year," as the crowd boogied on to the "New Genesis" band, awaiting the coronation of the 1978-1979 royal court. The dance's theme, "Three Times A Lady," fit the occasion perfectly, honoring Jefferson's Senior Queen Frances Jolivette; Senior Princess Teresa Lopez; Junior Princess Kimberly Johnson; Sophomore Princess Karen Woods; and Freshman Princess Marlene Murcia.

The senior class, which sponsored the entire event, added a touch of class with "Flor-Grams" during the morning classes. Flowers were hand-delivered to the "special someone" with an attached message. Good going, seniors, on a job well done.

The juniors are busy on their candy sale. They also have started a new trend around Jeff with their Indian buttons. Both sales seem to be successful.

This is the first year Jefferson has had a girls tennis team. The team consists mostly of freshman players, but has some sophomores, juniors, and seniors. They rank third in the NPL standings now. This is exceptionally well, as it is the first time for most of the girls in interschool tennis. Most of the wins were by Anne Cruz, whose record was 6-5. They would not be so high in the standings if it wasn't for the coaching of Ed Johnson.

Our cross-country team is coached by Mr. Alvarado, a new teacher at Jefferson. They started out with a full team, but unfortunately many runners dropped out. The two wins were against Serramonte and South City high schools. The team consists of Ralph Gowen, (a senior) who has won numerous medals; Joe Grambow, (a senior) who hasn't had as promising a season due to illnesses; George Bolter (a junior) who has improved immensely; and Ricky Cairo, who is ranked as the best in the sophomore league.

Linda Lee was elected Student of the Month for October. Linda, a cheerleader, has contributed much of her time and effort to make Jefferson a better school. She will be given a certificate from the Exchange Club and will be eligible for Student of the Year.

Something Nice About Joe Thomas

Thanks to Joe Thomas, San Francisco has another Italian head man to go with Joe Altobelli. Now we all can hope that new 49er coach O'Connor can follow Altobelli's lead and become NFL Coach of the Year.

O'Connor does puzzle me, though. Not because of his name — Irish father, Italian mother — but because of how he explains it. "Everybody else in the family (except his father)," he says, "was Italian." Does that mean his father's mother and father were Italian, too? If that's so, then how did his father become an Irishman?

If that's the way O'Connor normally explains things, maybe Thomas should have stuck with McCulley.

And maybe it's time somebody said something good about Thomas, an occupation that is as precarious these days as it was for a sportswriter to say something good about Spec Richardson a couple of years ago.

But Joe Thomas can't be all bad. He does have a good track record, and he had a good draft this year. A good part of the reason why he had a good draft was the draft choices he got in some of the deals for which he's been knocked. For a few examples, he got starting middle linebacker Dan Buzn in the Del Williams deal with Miami; starting guard Walt Downing in the Tommy Hart deal with the Bears; and the other starting guard, Ernie Hughes, in the Forrest Blue deal with Baltimore.

He claimed, when people criticized him for not getting something for Plunkett rather than putting him on revocable waivers, that he couldn't even get $100 for Plunkett. Oakland picked Plunkett up as a free agent, but has he played one down?

When Thomas put Gene Washington out on waivers because the former All-Pro was having Achilles tendon problems, he was criticized for not being patient, told that Washington would be worth waiting for because even slowed down he was a threat, because he was well-liked by teammates and the public and that the 49ers needed his image for public relations purposes should the team go sour, and that he would be a valuable model and teacher for the 49ers' bevy of young receivers. But Thomas insisted that Washington would be worthless this year, and that the 49ers couldn't afford to hold a roster spot open for him.

When Monte Clark picked Washington up for his Detroit club, a lot of people knowingly nodded their heads and congratulated the popular former 49er coach on his shrewd pick-up. To make room for Washington on his roster Clark released reliable receiver Ray Jarvis. But Thomas was right. Washington is out for the season, on the injured reserve list, and Clark is a receiver short.

As for the clowns who are berating Thomas for the O.J. Simpson deal and insulting Simpson because he isn't averaging at least one 80-yard touchdown run a game, while pointing out that Delvin Williams, whose place Simpson took, is leading the NFL in rushing, well, they're just ignorant.

Despite his age, despite his sore knee, O.J. still is probably one of the three or four best running backs in football, and that means that I still don't think Walter Payton is any better. The plain fact is that some of O.J.'s best runs this year have occurred when he managed to just get back to the line of scrimmage. If he were with Miami, he'd be leading the NFL in rushing, and if Williams were back here, he'd be fighting for that line of scrimmage.

Granted now, Joe Thomas does do and say some questionable things. When I asked him recently if perhaps the 49ers hadn't made a mistake in shifting All-Pro defensive tackle Cleveland Elam to defensive end, where he's having a mediocre season thus far this year, Thomas mentioned, quite logically, that Elam was slowed down because of injury rather than because of position change.

But then he went into an explanation of how great an athlete Elam is and professed, "Great athletes can play any position, anyway. You take a baseball player. If he's a good athlete, he can play second base, shortstop, third base, see what I mean?"

Well, Joe, I never did see that, because Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle, for two easy examples, were great athletes and they both failed as shortstops but became Hall of Fame material as center fielders.

So while maybe a great athlete can play any or most positions on a field acceptably and not embarrass himself, it's quite obvious and really shouldn't even have to be pointed out that most great athletes do play certain positions better — in fact, have a genius for them — than they do others.

That tough Warrior loss to Milwaukee on the road — the one pointer they lost on a freak tip-in by their own men — may have been good for them. They immediately went on a five-game road winning streak, the longest in the NBA since 1972.

That kind of loss either can make or break a young team like the Warriors. If they let it prey on their minds, it could set them back. But if they're able to shake it off, then that kind of a boss becomes a character builder. That's the way it seemed to work for the Warriors. It seemed to act as a maturing process.

The following blitz against the defending champion Washington Bullets on the road was also, as Bill King so loves to put, "pivotal," because they pulled that one off with good defense, which in turn triggered their offense, which is the key to winning in the NBA. I'm sure Al Attles had been telling them that all along, but kids have to see something work to believe it, and one object lesson win like that was worth a half-season of chalk talks on the subject.

If a young team is losing it's hard to break them out of the pattern. But once they learn how to win it's like a young tiger getting his first taste of blood. They get an insatiable thirst for it, and establish a new habit.

Maybe that will happen to the 49ers some day. Incidentally, Milwaukee leads the NBA in Italians — Kevin Restani and John Gianelli.

Not many fans are aware of it, but coming into this season Phil Smith had the longest string of consecutive starts in the NBA (246), and he's still going. He's started every game since the first game of his second season.

Check the minutes played by the individual Warriors and you'll find that to this point Attles seems to be out of the pattern that had a great deal to do with his winning the NBA championship in 1975, when he divided the time almost evenly between virtually two complete teams. Right now, he's going with pretty much a seven-man front line. But I have a hunch that will change as the season gets longer and the many Warrior rookies pick up more experience.

Sudden thought. If Jerry West loses his job, remember you read it here first.

Were the Giants just doing some helter-skelter picking in the free agent draft, or is it significant that a team whose main strength is pitching would select pitchers as its first four choices?

Does that mean the Giants will be willing to deal off one or two of their current top hurlers if they can pick one or two others up from the draft? Or do they just believe that a team never can have enough pitching?

Regents Have a Title Chance

By DAN BERTELLOTTI

Ken Cook's Serramonte Regent football team is indeed for real.

And if the Regents get some help from Terra Nova next week — and also beat Westmoor themselves — then Serramonte would be the North Peninsula League champ.

Cook had been openly worried coming into Thursday's game with visiting Half Moon Bay, which came in 1-3-1. Serramonte hasn't had any trouble knocking off the tougher teams in the NPL, but has lost to Oceana and tied South City, both weak teams.

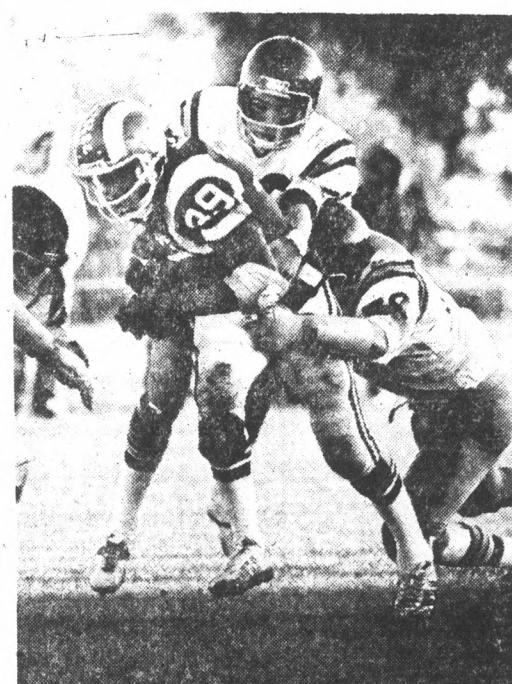

But Cook needn't have worried. The Regent defense keyed a fine effort as Serramonte blitzed the Cougars 29-0. The Regents are now 4-1-1 in the NPL, compared to Jeff's 5-1. Jeff's only loss was to Serramonte.

Serramonte did it with defense Thursday, smothering the Cougar attack. A bitter cold 20 mph wind made conditions nearly intolerable, and didn't help the Cougar passing attack.

With passing into the wind very difficult, Serramonte almost forgot to take advantage of the wind behind it in the first period.

Quarterback Ron Cranahan hit Joe Nobles with a short pass over the middle. Nobles veered outside, and, thanks to a key downfield block, went 75 yards for a TD.

Cook's charges took advantage of a high punt snap which got up into the Members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild, amid all the activity of their annual Boutique de Noel, will sit down for a relaxing luncheon and general business meeting Friday.

The executive board and the tray favor committee will begin the day at 10:30 a.m. with work sessions and then gather at 12 noon with the rest of the membership for a business session followed by luncheon.

The boutique, which begins tomorrow evening with a champagne preview, will continue through Saturday with hours from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Mrs. Fran Gaffigan is the chairman of the event, which features a large selection of Christmas and Thanksgiving decorator items, as well as gifts and goodies.

The next major event awaited by the guild members is the annual Christmas Cocktail party being planned by Mrs. Jane Hillsman and Mrs. Millie Dunow. The "members and friend only" gathering will be held in the Franciscan Mobile Homes Country Club on December 2.

A GARAGE sale to raise money to contribute to several charities during the holiday season will be held this Saturday in the home of Mrs. John Johnson.

The sale is being sponsored by the Nu Sigma chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority and the event is high on the list of items to be discussed at tonight's gathering of the chapter.

Mrs. Rita Chase is hostessing tonight's business session.

The cultural topic will be "Establishing Ourselves," and the upcoming Sorority Council meeting when the local chapter will be responsible for the cultural part of the agenda, will be among the future events discussed.

Plans are afoot for a festive holiday gathering to be sponsored by the Daly City Area Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons, AARP, on December 11.

Publicity person, Servart Ojakian, reports that the club has selected the Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco as the setting for the Christmas Party and Installation of officers.

Work on the program continues, but one certainty is that popular singer-member Gene Almay will be the soloist.

SATURDAY and Sunday members of the Holy Angels Women's Guild will present their annual Holiday Boutique in the parish hall at 107 San Pedro Road in Colma.

Beautiful decorations suitable for Thanksgiving and for Christmas will be sold as will be a large selection of cosmetics and perfumes, linens and handmade gift items and lots of "goodies" from the Bake Shoppe area.

Mrs. Dianne Leonetti, the publicity persons, reports that the sale hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and after each Mass on Sunday morning.

MEMBERS of the Pacifica Fifty-Plus Club planning to attend the club's New Year's Eve Party at the Wonder Valley Ranch are reminded that the balance due on reservations must be paid no later than Nov. 27.

Questions about reservations should be directed to the reservations chairperson, Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg.

THE DALY City Dolphins will meet the Camden Swim Club in San Jose for a Relay Meet on Saturday and Sunday in the Team Swim Meet of the Month.

New team members include Alicia Zamagni and Kevin Marren.

MRS. DOROTHY Arnold, the Westlake Senior Citizens Club president hopes everyone in the neighborhood takes a few minutes out of today's schedule to shop at the club's annual Christmas bazaar.

The sale will be held between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the building at 400 Belmar. Shoppers will be able to find many gift items including handmade linens, baked goods, aprons, white elephants, plants, Christmas tree stands and a refreshment booth.

Assisting with the bazaar are Mrs. Dinah Dickson, Mrs. Flora Caselli, Mrs. Sophie Moeller, Scotty Humber, Mrs. Agnes St. Clair, Mrs. Grace Chaliff, Mrs. Emily Pechart and Mrs. Luana May.

Your Little Brother?

Jim, age seven, lives in San Mateo with his single, working mother. It has been a "long time" since Jim has seen his father, and therefore, he needs a man to help him learn things a boy of his age needs to learn.

Jim likes to get dressed up in his policeman's uniform, but with his straight blonde hair he still cannot help looking like the Little Dutch Boy. Given a balloon, Jim can make his bicycle sound just like a motorcycle! He likes to ride his bike over dirt trails and to jump it over tires. Baseball and jogging also keep Jim busy outdoors.

At school, Jim likes to eat lunch and do math. After one bad experience sitting in the corner for being bad, Jim has decided that it is better to be good. His teacher described Jim as a careful worker and an open boy yearning to share stories with his peers.

Jim needs someone to brag about to his buddies. A man who could appreciate Jim's imagination, expressiveness, and energy would be a fine partner to go places and do things with him, so Jim could have some stories to tell on Monday morning. If you have some time to spend with Jim, or if you know of someone who does, please contact Big Brothers of The Peninsula, Inc.

Big Brothers of the Peninsula, an affiliate of Big Brothers of America, is a privately funded, non-profit agency. It is a preventive program that helps fatherless boys with their personal and social growth through long-term relationships with a volunteer man.

Student Decline Worries Board

A dismal picture of attendance this fall on the San Mateo Community College District's three campuses prompted an unusually early report Wednesday night on the faltering enrollments.

Not only are there fewer students, but it appears those fewer students also are taking fewer units, Chancellor Glenn Smith told the board of trustees.

The three-college district's first enrollment decline in "many years" — possibly since World War II — has alarmed trustees and district officials who weren't expecting the loss.

Smith said the reason for the drop in both enrollments and average daily attendance (the full-time student equivalency formula) is still "a bit of a mystery."

The major fear is that the loss of enrollment this year will have a gloomy reflection on revenue from the state in the form of state surplus fund block grants next year.

"I find it hard to believe the state authorities will fund a community college district at the same level next year if it experienced an enrollment decline the year before," Smith related.

However, he noted the likelihood of reduced state support is only his own belief and there has been nothing yet from the state making that possibility a reality.

In normal years, Smith said, state funds are recalculated at the end of the year to consider increases or decreases in ADA. The ground rules for distribution of the post-Proposition 13 surplus funds have not yet been fully established.

Smith's report noted a 7 percent decrease from fall 1977 to fall 1978 in total district ADA.

Total enrollments during that one-year period dropped 5.4 percent — from 32,425 last fall to 30,662 this fall.

District-wide evening ADA dropped 8.7 percent while enrollment dropped 5.6 percent.

District-wide daytime ADA declined 6.2 percent and enrollments dropped 5.2 percent.

The worst percentage drop of all was a 17.7 percent loss in evening college enrollment at Canada College in Redwood City — from 744 last fall to 613 this fall.

ADAs dropped 5.8 percent at Skyline, 9.8 percent at Canada and 6.3 percent at College of San Mateo.

Enrollments decreased by 3.7 percent at Skyline, 12.2 percent at Canada and 2.6 percent at CSM.

However, both Skyline President James Wyatt and Canada President J. Wilmer Wenrich said unit load per student is up slightly at their campuses despite a district-wide trend toward decrease.

Wenrich said part of the problem at Canada is that 30 percent fewer classes are being offered. The "fill rate," the number of classes at enrollment capacity, has increased from 75 percent last year to 90 percent this year.

Most off-campus courses have been eliminated, Wenrich said. The evening college program in particular, he noted, is "as efficient as we can get."

Smith explained that almost every community college in Northern California has lost enrollment this year — in some cases much more than the SMCCD. It's believed, he said, that an increasing employment rate is a significant factor. It's also possible, he said, that students who went elsewhere for summer

Letting the World Know

By MICHELLE CARTER

The Medic-Alert bracelet of Dr. Louis Baer reads: "Positively no resuscitation, no I.V., no injection and no intubation."

While the words may not have a great deal of meaning to the layman, they give an emergency room physician very specific information about the way the Burlingame doctor wants to be handled in the event of a medical emergency when he cannot speak for himself.

The directions, Dr. Baer believes, are his first line of defense in preventing a lingering, nursing home death which he abhors for his patients as well as for himself.

Louis Shattuck Baer, 65, has been practicing internal medicine for adults as a family doctor for 30 years in the same cottage across from the Burlingame Public Library that he settled into after World War II. His wife is his receptionist, and he still makes house calls.

For the same number of years, he has served as a clinical professor of medicine at Stanford University School of Medicine and now carries the title of professor emeritus.

He's obviously proud to have combined the best of both worlds — a small-town practice in the middle of one of the most medically sophisticated areas in the country. Medical sophistication, however, is at the heart of the problem Dr. Baer is trying to alleviate with the publication of his book, "Let the Patient Decide" (Westminster Press, $4.95).

He points out that doctors today have an "incredible and ever increasing ability to do more" for their patients, when in fact the best course of action may be to do less. The patients he has in mind are much like Mrs. Stone, the 86-year-old invalid with failing faculties whom Dr. Baer discusses in the book.

When Mrs. Stone's heart began to fail and he was summoned, he, as a young physician, did everything medically correct to restore her heart function. She lived to spend the rest of her days living in a nursing home totally unaware of the world around her.

At the time, Dr. Baer discussed the case of Mrs. Stone with a superior who advised him that perhaps "you did battle with the wrong enemy." He quoted a friend, saying "Why ward off death if in

How You Want to Die

Wednesday, Nov. 15, 1978

THE POST*

the attempt we kill living?"

That was, perhaps, the beginning of Dr. Baer's own conviction that a death like Mrs. Stone's was not for him. For his patients who feel the same way, he has some strong advice:

"Make sure your doctor knows exactly how you feel, and tell him in forceful language."

Spouses and children must also know. "The patient has to express it so clearly that the family would understand exactly what you would have them do."

Specifically Dr. Baer is addressing himself to people over 65 years of age because past that age the chances of making a complete recovery after heroic measures are required to sustain life are increasingly slim. He admits that an occasional elderly patient will come out of resuscitation as good as new, "but I wouldn't want to take the chance myself."

If the recovery isn't complete and the patient remains in some way diminished, a lingering death rather than a renewed life is more likely the result.

"In my type of practice I spend a lot of time making rounds in nursing homes. It brings it all very close to you. I've seen great deal of the end of life."

So prevention of that kind of "end of life" has become compulsive with Dr. Baer. His wife wears the same Medic-Alert tag on a thin chain around her neck, and their children are perfectly clear on what they would want to happen to them.

"Our children know exactly what we want. So much has seeped in through their pores just listening to me talk, there would be no doubt."

Leaving "no doubt" for those who will remain behind to make the decisions is the key factor, Dr. Baer believes. He urges his patients, who feel as he does, to fill out living wills before they enter a hospital for elective surgery and to demand that the will be placed on the front of the patient's hospital chart.

Dr. Baer goes even further than the standard living will (available from the Euthanasia Educational Council, 250 W 57th St., New York City 10019). He amends the will to say, "If there is no very good expectation of my making an excellent recovery from physical or mental disability, I demand that I be allowed to die and not be kept alive by artificial means or heroic measures."

He also adds this appendage at the end: "In case of cardiac arrest which is instantly detected, I permit a two-minute maximum attempt to resuscitate."

Dr. Baer admits that he would get an argument from other doctors as to the number of minutes of resuscitation that should be permitted. "Some would say five or even 10, but my feeling is that after two minutes, the chance of brain damage in a person over 65 is fairly great."

Guilt, of course, is most often the driving force that causes relatives to demand that doctors do all they can. That's why, he says, it's imperative that the patient himself has expressed himself forcefully on the subject before it's too late for him to speak for himself.

Then it becomes the responsibility of the spouse or the child or the doctor to follow those instructions. "I tell the wife or the husband that they have got to be able to say what he or she would want them to say."

The ideal, of course, is for we doctors to do all we should — rather than all we can. What doctors can do today is incredible, but the result may be existence rather than living."

In the book, he writes: "You assume responsibility for your life. If you would welcome a natural sudden death or a brief illness, you have to assume responsibility for the way you die. If you don't, the system will take charge and you may suffer the consequences."

Assembly 'Fellows' Offered

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D-Daly City) has announced that applications are being taken for the Assembly Fellowship Program for 1979-1980. The Fellowship begins Aug. 1, 1979 and ends June 30, 1980.

The program, now in its 21st year, provides an 11-month working education in the Assembly for recent college graduates with bachelor or advanced degrees in all fields of study.

The 12 Fellows chosen will be assigned to staff positions with members of the Assembly for five months, followed by six-month placements with Assembly committees. The Fellows will research legislation, assist in committee business, and work in both the district and capitol offices on specific projects assigned by members or staff consultants.

Applications may be obtained from the California Assembly Fellowship Program, c/o Political Science Department, University of California at Riverside, Riverside 92502 or from Papan's district office at 345-E Serramonte plaza, Daly City 94015, phone 756-6400.

GV School To Elect PTA Officers school when it was canceled in San Mateo County stayed there.

The chancellor said that the attendance report presented to the board is only a first census report. The district trustees usually don't receive a report until after the second census later in the semester.

It does not include classes that run for less than a semester.

Smith added that the $4.5 million budget cut this year may have resulted in decreased educational opportunities for students.

But, Trustee James Tormey noted that the district attrition rate was up to 30 percent in the past in some classes. There actually was an abuse of course offerings, he said. Too many students signed up for five units and ended up taking only one, he declared.

The Legislature, Tormey said, is going to keep a close eye on enrollment declines throughout the state. He predicted further "belt tightening" for community colleges.

VA Wants Its Questionnaire Returned

Every person in San Mateo County who got a Veterans Administration check also received a questionnaire Nov. 1. It will determine whether he or she will continue to receive the VA check for the coming year.

"Please, fill it out right and mail it right back," asked Chet Shroyer, Veterans Service Officer.

Unless the annual income questionnaire is returned to the VA by Jan. 1, the pension check could be suspended Feb. 1, he warned.

"You can tell if it is a pension check," he added, "by the abbreviation PEN underneath the amount of the check." A return pre-addressed envelope will be enclosed with the questionnaire.

The local Veterans Service office has a staff of three persons who work by appointment at 573-2295.

Bike Group Plugs Safety

"Bikers, Be Safe! Be Seen!" is safety tip for bikers, youngsters and adult, urged by the San Mateo County Bikeways Committee, now that daylight savings time has ended.

Visibility is particularly important in winter months when darkness comes early and commute auto traffic is heavy at dusk and early darkness. And more and more bikes are on the streets at these hours, spokesmen say.

Here are some things bikers can do to keep from becoming an invisible man:

- Anticipate. Don't get caught without lights.

- Equip the bike with the proper lights and reflectors with amber and tail light.

Wear light-colored clothing. Reflector vests with fluorescent stripes are becoming popular with commuting cyclists.

Parents should require children and bikes to be off the street after dark. Small fry are sometimes hard for a motorist to see, even in daylight.

Bikers must ride defensively. Assume the motorist doesn't see or is going to do the unusual. In a collision, the automobile always wins.

Motorists should be particularly alert for bikers at dusk and after dark, particularly with right turns and at intersections.

The Gamesman

Old Friend 'Sorry'

By RICHARD C. MOON

It has been said that old friends are best friends. This adage often applies to board games too. Although most of us enjoy playing the latest games on the market and experiencing the novelty of new strategies and tactics, we never seem to outgrow our love for the old standards.

This is one reason Parker Brothers "Sorry" remains one of the largest selling board games in America year after year. Since its arrival from England in 1930, Sorry has entertained generations of Americans. It is a game with only a few rules, which can be learned by children as young as six years.

It is a pursuit game that has fast-moving action and sudden reversals of fortune. It is possible for a player who has languished behind for the entire contest to have a sudden run of good fortune and wind up the winner.

Sorry contains one pack of game cards, a board and 16 playing pieces, four each of four colors. The object of the game is to move all four pieces from start to home. This is done by following the instructions on the Sorry cards.

Once a player gets his pieces into play, he can be sent back to the beginning by his opponent. This happens if the opponent lands on a square, which means the first player must take his piece all the way back to start.

The game board itself is filled with exciting pitfalls as well as safety zones that serve to make the game more interesting. The winner is the first player to get all of his pieces "home."

Sorry has proved addictive to literally millions of people over the years. If you have not been fortunate enough to play this game at least once perhaps now would be a good time to see what all the fuss is about. I think you'll soon understand why.
